

Authorization from Contributors to the Renal Biobank Catalogue

By filling in the Study Description Form and sending it to the Renal Biobank Catalogue, you agree that the provided information may be organized, stored, and made publicly available in the Renal Biobank Catalogue that is online available via the Renal Genome Network (ReGeNet) website (www.regenet.eu). You agree to share this information without financial or other consideration. The Renal Biobank Catalogue team may use this information in the terms set forth in this agreement to further the objectives described above. Your material will not be sold or transferred under the custodianship of another entity.

Users of the Renal Biobank Catalogue must abide by the Terms and Conditions set forth on the website. The Renal Biobank Catalogue team will make every effort to inform users about these terms and conditions, but we cannot be held responsible for uses that would be made not following the rules set forth on the website.

You should send any updates of your material to the coordinator, as they become available. The Renal Biobank Catalogue wants to offer a reliable and high quality website to the international community. It will make every effort to keep its website up to date. You agree to hold the Renal Biobank Catalogue team harmless should there be discrepancy between the information posted in the Catalogue and the submitted information.

The Renal Biobank Catalogue team does not collect or disclose to any third party research project data pertaining to identifiable participants. The Renal Biobank Catalogue team has a policy on privacy. In order to respect your right to privacy, the Renal Biobank Catalogue team will make available in the Catalogue only the personal information provided in the questionnaire for the purpose of sharing in the Catalogue, such as the name of the lead researcher, the coordinators and the contact information you provided for the purpose of posting it in the Catalogue. You are responsible to obtain all the authorizations pertaining to private information disclosed in the questionnaire, prior to filling in the form.

At any time, you may revoke your consent to the foregoing by providing the Renal Biobank Catalogue with a written notice requesting that your material be withdrawn from the Renal Biobank Catalogue. The Renal Biobank Catalogue team will answer and comply with your request within ten (10) working days, and provide you a written confirmation of the deletion. Also, they reserve the right to withdraw your material from its website at any time. The Renal Biobank Catalogue being supported solely by public funds, you should know that the website could terminate its operation at any time.

Should you require further information pertaining to the use and disclosure of your information in the Renal Biobank Catalogue, please contact:

Marion Verduijn, PhD, coordinator
Leiden University Medical Center (LUMC)
Department of Clinical Epidemiology, Room C7 82
P.O. Box 9600, 2300 RC Leiden, The Netherlands
Phone: +31-71-526-4394
Fax: +31-71-526-6994
Email: m.verduijn@lumc.nl